ernment held the city, but while the in surgent admiral held the water no shipping could go up to the front as long as he said it couldn't, and he said no. Various governments were affected by this embargo—"blockade" the admiral called it. Great Britain was concerned chiefly, but the United States was a good second, with Germany and other nations as well.

Europe looked to America to do something in the matter and was naturally diffident about interfaring in family rows on this side of the water. At least Admiral Benham was sent down to take charge of the United States fleet in Richarbor. The flagship was the San Francisco, and on Sunday, Jan. 28, Admiral Benham called on his captains to come aboard. Among them was Commander Brownson of the Detroit. It is said that after the conference this commander came back to his ship smiling. However that may be, he certainly smiled next morning—it was calm se could be, almost—the Yankee raval ships were seen to be in a hussle. The canvas awnings faded away, and un the night certain sounds were heard aboard them, at which various listeners put their hands one shaped behind their ears to listen harder. On the morning of the 29th there was a change in the appearance of the Yankee fiest. It had taken off its coat, waist coat and shirt, so to speak, and was just eying itself when day dawned to see how good its training had been.

The insurgent ships Aquidaban and Tamandare were up the bay above viaus island, with their enbies short, ready to trip. The Trajano and Guana bara, in well as the fast of armed tags, were crowded with men from the gar risons of Cobras and Villognigon. The Liberdade flew the little blue ensign for Admiral de Gama was aboard her lying with the Trajano and Guanabara north of Enchados shand, a few yards from the American bark Amy, one of the boats kept out by the blockade. The Parahyba was lying with its teeth, so to speak, at the throat of the Yankee barkemine Coed Naws.

to speak, at the throat of the Yankee barkentine Good News.
Commander Brownson on the Detroit got his ship under way, having hoisted anchor at 6 o'clock, and headed toward the city between Enchados and Cobras islands. Her crew was at her guns, and as eager a lot of men as one could see anywhere at that time. The anchor got fouled in the Detroit's hawse hole, and that was ample expuse for proceeding slowly, which was convenient while a couple of insurgent tags made a sputter at the northern littoral of the city, as they had been doing a long time. After a couple of men had been hill ed abourd the tags they drew back and the Detroit, with everything clear, rounded Enchados island and came along starboard side to starboard of the Trajano. The men looked through their sights and then up at Commander Brownson on the bridge. The story of what they saw is a tradition in the newy now and always will be so long amen like Brownson are in command. The commander was similing.

A man on the Trajano raised a must ket and fired a builet over the heads of sailors pulling away in a boat with a line from the Amy to a ship at anchor that the Amy might be warped to the forbidden docks. Two heavy insurgent tags came around with their rampounted at the side of the Detroit. On the Sailors pulling away in a boat with in head on the hallyards asgar to break it out, with his eyes fixed on the admiral who was looking at the Datroit for the sign which would came him to give the duartermaster the order so ardently de who was looking at the Datroit for the sign which would cause him to give the quartermaster the order so ardently de

When the insurgent shot was fired, Commander Brownson turned to the Commander Brownson turned to the gunner at a one poundor, and with a searcely perceptible increase of the smile ordered the man to shoot into the Trajano at the water line aix feet abaft the atern. The order was misunder stood, and the shot went across the insurgents' bow. Thereupon Captain Brownson bailed. "Trajano, aboy!" he shouted. "It you fre again, I will return the fire, and if you persist I will sink you." The Trajano's craws were excited It a nervous inger had pulled a trigger, the fight would have been on Bot the shot did not sound The sail ors on the Amy's yawl waited to see

But the shot did not sound. The sail ors on the Amy's yawl waited to see what they were to do next. "You go shead," Commander Brown son shouted, "and I'll protect you!" The saline went. "Aim at the Guanabara!" ordered Commander Brownson. And the greasy black muzzles of the Detroit's broadside and the two payot gons swang around, looking bigger and bigger every moment, till they scopped, leveled at the cruiser. One particularly persons gon. erniser One particularly nervous gun orew aboard the insurgent was conspicu one. Commander Brown-on waved bis hand, with a balf smile, and this crew

Then the Yaukes ships led the way Then the Yankes ships led the way to the docks, with other ships crowding in with them, and after awhile the rebellion collapsed. But the sailors who were on the Detroit at that turn have told the story of Commander Lycom son's smile to other sailors, and these to still others, till it has ruppled to stry water where the stary flag files ary water where the starry flag files, and it is beard with marked interest by men on the ships of other namonse-men who have seen smalling man fight -- New York Hon.

Burnham Burglar Confesses and Is its differ the Grand Jury-$48 of the Money Recovered—St. Albars Man and Woman Held on S rious Charge—Death of Dr. E. A. Bean, of Hartland—Notes.

[Special to Whig and Courier.]

Pittsfield; Me., April 18. The gramophone concert given at Grand Army Hall Saturday evening under the auspices of the Catholic Sunday School was well at-tended and a considerable sum was real tied. To feature of the evening watthe recitation of Master John Daly of the Waterville High School who was introduced as the "latest edition of the

Daly Family."

The service at the Free Raptist church vesterday was largely attended and the sermon of the pastor, Rev. G. L. White, was particularly able and impressive, a ounding in practical ideas and bright spee hes. The text was taken from Math. 17-8, "When they lifted up their eves they saw no man save Jesus, only." The usual services were held at the other churches in town.

14. Price Webber's theatrical company assisted by Prof. F. E. Stevens gave a sacrel concerd at the Lancey House Sunday evening which was well getended. The parlors were crowded with guests, and others assembled who appreciated the excellence of the musical talent.

Gorden Dobson, of the firm of Robert Dobson & Co., returned today from New York and Washington where he has been for the past few weeks. He reports the markets in the woolen business rather demoralized owing to the macertainty over the war talk. Many of the orders for the Pioneer and Waverly Woolen Mills have been cancelled and, no new orders are received.

Arthur Rowe, of Burnham, who, as alleged, broke and entered the safe of G. S. Goodwin and took about $100 in money and checks, upon his arrest by George H. Bickford confessed to having compitted the deed. He was arraigned saturday before Trial Justice. Ira. Bickford at Burnham and held until the next telm of the S. J. Court at Belfast, Fotty-eight dollars of the money was found where Rowe had hidden it and returned to the owner. The checks and town orders he destroyed.

Mrs. Lizzle Hanson, wife of Frank Hanson, of St. Alburs, and Clarence Clark of that place, were taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff Ruel S. Williams, of Hartland, on Saturday, on a warrant issued by Mr. Hansoh and were taken to showhean where they were arraigned before Erial Justice O. R. Bachellor on the charge of adultery. After a lengthy bearing probable cause was found and the defendants were ordered to recognise in the sum of $500 cach for their appearance at the Sept. term of the Supreme Ladicial Court. Mrs. Hanson procured Londs, and Clark was re cine with Dr. J. C. Manson of this phace.

After his graduation from the medical coilege he located in St. Afbans, removing from there to Harthand where he has been practicing medicine for about twelve years.

Dr. Bean has been prominent in Odd rellowship, holding various offices in the reaternity and very prominent in politics, being an active Republican. At the last county convention he was a candidate for the Senate and lacked but a few votes of receiving the nomination. He has been chairman of the board of selectmen of darthand for a number of years. For he last year his failing hearth has compelled him to refrain from active work and he has been unable to do but very sittle. He is survived by a wife and two children.

The Reav took an active portfin all that

An army is like a snake; it has great length of body and a small head. The head is the fighting part, and one of its most important paties is to protect the body, which consists of wagon trains and lines of supplies; for if the body be injured the head becomes powerless. It is well to bear this simile in mind in considering the plan of army organization and the steps which are being taken to make it effective. Fortunately for the success of these steps there is no other
